Why EPM...

In the western world Employee Performance Management has been a buzz word since the 1970's & has now assumed more refined forms in their industrial settings.

In our corporate sector various variants of performance management are being practiced depending upon the age of the organization and the maturity of the HR systems therein.

As a training group we are extremely encouraged that performance management in one way or the other is finding its way in to the Pakistani public/ quasi-public sector organizations. It is in this context that we present this workshop.

Special Features

The workshop has both a one day and a two day version with the following special features:

- Helping trainees develop a clear understanding of the meaning of Performance Appraisal & Performance Management System.
- Introducing & promoting the understanding of how an appraisal system is built.
- Through structured activities helping the trainee develop a skeletal appraisal system for his or her company.

About Us...

We are not starting in 2016 in fact we started in 2001 when Chaudry Fazle Muqem returned from Warwick, Mobashar Sadik was already a part of the most popular Business School in Islamabad & Noor Ahmed was breaking into an international career after graduating from a top Business School. All three of these gentlemen now form the core of what is "Aspire Consulting"- A training, organizational development & an academic institutions' capacity building company.

Our Vision is "To Do More With Less", Our Mission is to "Up-Skill Pakistan" & our Mantra is "Professionalism is ultimately a self-serving concept and money is but a by-product of it"
